Kristen Rockenbach created Tuckahoe LLC to help corporations and individuals bring heart and soul back into the board room and around the dinner table, empowering leaders to leave a legacy of joy and equality.

As a consultant for Fortune 100 companies, small business, and government organizations for more than a decade, Kristen envisioned a different way of running businesses and governments that is sustainable as well as profitable. Kristen believes corporations are living entities, breathing with the heartbeat of each owner, manager and employee. By connecting both passions and profits, Kristen is able to help sustain the heartbeat, in rhythm with the breath of prosperity and love.

Kristen brings her passion into the speaking area with enthusiasm and poise. Recent speaking engagements include Effective Meeting and Presentation Skills at the Junior League of Washington DC, Consulting & PM Softskills Training on behalf of RTM Consulting, along with several presentations of her Signature Passion themed workshops and webinars.

In addition to her work and speaking experience, Kristen is a graduate of Erickson International Art and Science of Coaching program and a member of the International Coach Federation and holds an MBA in Management Information Systems and BS in Physics. She holds PMP (Project Management Professional) and RMCP (Resource Management Certified Professional) certifications, and is a Certified Passion Test and Passion Test for Business facilitator. She is also a Usui Reiki Master, Ama~Deus practitioner, and Magdalene Priestess. An active member in the community, you can catch her volunteering with the Junior League of Washington, University Club of DC, Pets on Wheels, or on her daily walks as she shares Messages from the Woods (#MFTW) on Twitter at @KRockenbach.

I'm definitely paying more attention to my wants and my passions on a more daily basis. I'm also watching myself about not doing things just because I "should." And it's really helping things be easier throughout the day about listening to myself and my choices. ~ E.R.

Kristen is a compassionate and talented coach and passion test facilitator; she has the ability to connect to the soul and heart of her clients to help them change mindsets, patterns and thought processes. Taking the passion test with her was fundamental on my consideration of accepting a new job offer, re-evaluating my priorities and passions clarified the path for my decision. I highly recommend Kristen's services. ~ Wendy Harper

I had fallen into a rut that turned out to be a massive chasm. Thankfully, the universe connected me with Kristen to help pull me out and to get me back on my feet. Thank you Kristen!! ~C.H.
